Amendments to the Summary

Please replace the Summary paragraph with the following replacement paragraph:

[0007.1] A method for encoding transformation on a set of data. A video frame is represented as frame-based data and as field-based data. Arrays of frame-based data and arrays of field-based data are generated. Either the array of frame-based data or the array of field-based data is selected based, at least in part, on the number of non-zero coefficients in the frame-based data and the field-based data. The coefficients of the arrays of selected data are converted.
